A national "do-not-call" list should certainly be established.

I have severe arthritis. It is a hardship for me to get to the phone only to find a telemarketer, a recording or noone at all.

I make it a policy to never buy anything or respond in any way to these calls. They are more than an intrusion and annoyance.

Thank you for the opportunity to comment.

Sincerely,

Phyllis Haggard

To Whom It May Concern: Docket No. 02-278

I just saw this article in today's News-paper The Oakland Press in Michigan and never en-joyed writing a letter as I do this letter.

Who ever invented the telemarketer ought to be shot and killed. They are the most annoying people I have ever talked too. Most of the time they don't even let you say hello they don't let you get a word in and when you do they won't take No for an answer. So you have to be nasty and hang up. Recently our phone rings and when you answer they hang up and this go on for 3 or 4 more times within a hour. I called our phone company and they told me it they are putting our phone number into their computer system when I say hello and they hang up without saying any thing. This not only annoying but scary if someone could be checking our house to see if you are we are home. I think telemarketers should be completely out because it's a lottery too big and very annoying and rude I realize its a job for lots of people but these people get nastier & ruder the longer they work at it. There is enough rude people around we shouldn't have to put up with telephone rudness.

It is my opinion that all telemarket-ing should be discontinued. There are other ways of advertizing.
It is very annoying as hardly a day goes by that I don't receive a call.

Just this past week I received calls on two different days just after 9 a.m. awakening a family member.
Not everyone is able to be up before 9 a.m. and what about families
with babies?

If I need any services offered
I can call that company or any other company at a convenient time.

Yours truly,

Re*l*: Telemarketers

I would really like to see a national do-not-call list.

The TCPA's restrictions are good (better than nothing),
but there is actually no good time for them, telemarketers,
to call and the request for donations is out-of-hand too.

Thanks for any help.

Sincerely,

L. Jewel Keasler

Gentlemen,

I appreciate the need for telemarketing and to suppress it altogether would be a violation of free speech. However, it is very disturbing to be pestered by callers until 8 pm (and later) as it interrupts the dinner hour and evening with family.

I strongly urge restricting calling hours from 3 a.m. to 5 p.m., no later.

Thank you for your consideration of my request.

Sincerely

Jackson G. Byers
